Republican Senatorial Convention.

The Republican electors of 29th senatorial district of the state of Nebraska are requested to send delegates from the several counties to meet in the city of McCook, Wednesday, August 17th, at 1 o'clock, P. M., for the purpose of placing in nomination a candidate for state senator for the 29th district, and to transact such other business as may come before said convention.

THE APPOINTMENT.

It is also recommended that delegates present cast full vote of delegation and that no proxies be allowed.

HUGH W. COLE, JOHN GAMMILL,
Secretary. Chairman.

Said McKeighan in his acceptance speech at Holdrege: "I mean no disrespect to the defenseless dead when I tell you that I am no democrat."

We have had ten month's trade with Cuba under the reciprocity treaty completed by President Harrison. In that period (ending June 30 last), we have sold Cuba $16,095,468 worth of American products, farm and manufactured, against only $10,393,271 sold in the ten months previous to the treaty—a gain of $5,702,487, or over half a million increase a month. In the same time our purchases of noncompeting products from Cuba were $64,374,083, against $52,539,117, a gain of $11,834,965. These facts prove that the republican policy of reciprocity is widening the foreign markets for American products.

FRONTIER COUNTY will present the name of Capt. John C. Gammill as a candidate for senatorial honors at the McCook convention to be held Aug. 17th. Capt. Gammill is a representative Nebraska farmer, having owned and operated a ranch in this county for twenty years. He is also a representative republican who has the courage of his convictions and the fidelity of earnest belief. If nominated he will fight to win. His ability for conducting a campaign, against the political anomaly who will be nominated by the opposition, is unquestioned. He is a favorite son of Frontier county and has been urged by his friends to accept the nomination. The convention will probably nominate him by acclamation.—Stockville Republican.

THE STANDARD BEARERS.

The republicans of Nebraska can congratulate themselves as they separate at the close of their nominating convention for 1892 that no matter what their personal preferences were or how much momentary disappointment some of them may feel, they have selected a thoroughly respectable, thoroughly representative and thoroughly republican ticket. The contest over some of the offices was sharp and prolonged, but such struggles leave no wounds in the bodies of true republicans. The ranks are already closed and the lines are already formed for one of the liveliest and most aggressive campaigns the party has ever conducted in Nebraska.

It would be hard to find a man to head the ticket who is better known to the people of Nebraska or who has been longer identified with their interests than the Hon. Lorenzo Crounse, who will be our next governor. Judge Crounse has been a Nebraskan since 1864, when he came here from New York, the state of his birth and his home for thirty years. He had practiced law from 1856 up to that time except for about three years, when he was engaged in defense of his country as captain of an artillery company. In Nebraska he was elected to the territorial legislature in 1865, and helped frame the state constitution. In 1866 he was elected to the supreme bench, where he served six years, and then went to congress for two terms. From 1878 to 1882 he was collector of internal revenue for Nebraska. Last year, through the friendship of Secretary Foster, a colleague in congress, he was appointed assistant secretary of the treasury. During his entire residence in Nebraska he has made his home on his farm in Washington county, sixteen miles north of Omaha. He has been both a farmer and a stock raiser, and turning his attention chiefly to blooded stock, has made it a successful business. His special fitness for the high office of governor of Nebraska must be acknowledged by all classes of citizens. His long public service prepares him for filling the place with marked distinction.

The nominee for lieutenant governor, Rev. J. G. Tate, is recognized as one of the most effective orators in Nebraska. He was born in Bilston, England, in 1850, and came to America after his marriage in 1872. After living six years in New York, he visited in England and then came to Shelton, Buffalo county, Nebraska, where he was pastor of the Presbyterian church for nearly ten years. In 1890 he removed to his present residence at Hastings. In 1886 he was elected grand master of the Ancient Order of United Workmen, and has received the same office by acclamation for seven successive years. Lately he has given his entire time to the service of the order, which has 13,000 members in the state. He has been active as a campaign speaker for many years, and in the last presidential campaign was assigned by the national committee to speak in Illinois, Indiana, New York, Connecticut and New Jersey, but was called back to Nebraska after speaking seven times in Chicago and six times in Indiana. He is an eloquent orator, and in his constant movement about the state has won a host of friends. He is clean, able, and a credit to the ticket.

The successor of Hon. T. H. Benton as auditor of state will be Hon. Eugene Moore, of Norfolk, one of the most efficient and popular of all the rising young men of the Third congressional district. Mr. Moore was born in Dahlonaga, Iowa, on the 13th of July, 1854. He was educated in the public schools of Ottumwa, and in early manhood adopted the profession of teaching. While thus employed he became a stenographer, removed to West Point, Nebraska, in 1877 and was appointed court reporter under Judge E. K. Valentine. He served as official court reporter under Judge Valentine, Judge J. B. Barnes, Judge J. C. Crawford and Judge W. F. Norris. Mr. Moore is known as a young man of great native ability and strong character. He has resided at Plattsmouth and West Point and for several years past has lived at Norfolk.

Hon. Joseph S. Bartley, named for treasurer, came of farmer stock in Indiana and lived on farms in that state and Illinois from his birth in 1858 until 1880, when he came to Nebraska and took up a homestead in Holt county before the coming of the railroad. He has paid a good deal of attention to stock raising. In 1884 he began a banking business at Atkinson, Holt county, which he has since conducted. He is proud to say that in that time he has never foreclosed a mortgage, never sued a man, nor had a law suit even in a justice court. He is a man of brains, manhood and business ability. In his own neighborhood he has the loyal friendship of the entire community regardless of political views. Mr. Bartley has been a lifelong republican.

The convention rewarded the faithful public service given by Secretary of State Allen, Attorney General Hastings, Land Commissioner Humphrey and Superintendent Goudy by renominating them by acclamation for the offices they now hold. This completed a ticket that in the opinion of this paper will command itself to the people of Nebraska and insure a victory for the republican cause next November.

Mr. GLADSTONE defined the position of the liberal party in parliament yesterday with great force and clearness. He set forth the meaning of the recent election in England in terms that rendered perfectly manifest to the government the supremacy of the Irish cause. The world has witnessed few spectacles more thrilling and impressive than this great statesman standing in the evening of his life between the oppressed people of Ireland in their humility and poverty and the power of a mighty monarchy.

BIBULOUS BILL BROWN, the eminent Hitchcock statesman and journalist, was bounced from the state central committee to the great satisfaction of all self-respecting western Nebraska republicans.

THE Russian idea of checking the cholera is to kill the doctors and flog those who criticize the sanitary of the government.

GREEN B. RAUM, pension commissioner, has just issued a report wherein are contained statistics showing the number of pensioners and the sum paid to them during the eleven months from July 1, 1891, to May 31st, 1892, and other dates as below:

The number of pensioners on the rolls June 30, 1891, was 676,160. This was increased during the eleven months stated to 856,087, an increase of 179,927. This was due largely to the liberal act of June, 1890, there being in that time granted 207,255 original cases, 71,903 increases and 998 restorations. The average payment now is $138.25. Last year it was $173.70.

There is still one pension paid on account of the Revolutionary war. It is to a widow and was reissued. She gets now $30 a month. A single survivor of the war 1812 gets $30 a month, an increase of $22. Thirty widows draw monthly $336. Army pensions outnumber those paid to marines on the ratio of 10 to 6 under the new law, and of 11 to 7 under the general law.

THE total of the regular appropriations for the first session of the Republican Fifty-first congress was $361,770,057.

The total of the regular appropriations for the first session of the democratic Fifty-second congress was $385,837,500.

The grand total of all appropriations in each of these congresses was:

Fifty-first (Republican), $463,398,510.

Fifty-second (democratic), $507,701,380.

The democrats have crippled the public service and left deficiencies to be made up, and yet they have spent more than the Republicans by the sum of $44,322,870, and more than any other congress ever spent at a first session. How is this for democratic "economy?"

IN Ohio Mr. White, who has made an enormous fortune out of chewing gum, is talked of for congress. Some men go to congress by the exercise of their own jaws; this party may go through the working of other people's.
